

Glendale Department

Ell Stauffer was in Glendale yesterday doing some telegraph work. Mrs. Philip White and Helen Fauber were in Phoenix Thursday. Mrs. Ray Lehman and Mrs. J. B. Hill were in Phoenix shopping day before yesterday.

Glendale State Bank

Safe and Courteous

Thirsty?

Remember the "Oasis" Donofrio's Cream Served

Pure Fruit Syrups Used in All Sodas

R. F. Stauffer

Staple and Fancy Groceries

We solicit your business

THE PALM

The Only Up-to-date Ice Cream Parlor in Glendale

HOTEL GLENWOOD

Leading Hotel of Glendale. With all modern accommodations. Meals served family style.

A. W. Bennett, Prop.

THE OASIS DISTRIBUTORS

Miss Lottis Forney Correspondent

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gilbert and two children left Thursday for Prescott where they will spend the summer.

George Timby and Miss Golda Fike were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother and father. A few friends were present.

Mrs. Fauber who has been in the hospital for some time is expected to be able to come home Saturday.

Misses Minnie and Vivian Blvins will visit with Misses Maud and Mary Forney next week.

Harry Yap is expecting his brother soon from Washington, D. C. He is going to buy a ranch here and farm.

The Ladies Aid society met yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jack. They had an all day meeting sewing and having a good social time. Ice cream and cake were served.

Arthur Sine who has been sick for some time is getting better now.

John Graham of the Glendale Lumber company received a half carload of iron yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Graham are expecting to leave soon for the summer. Mrs. Graham will leave about the first of July and will go first to her home in Santa Ana. She will go from there to the beach for the rest of the summer. Del Trebil is coming from Manly, Iowa, to take Mr. Graham's place at the lumber yard and he will join his wife about the first of August.

Aston Peak who ran away from home sometime ago wrote to his mother yesterday. He is in Redlands, Cal., and is in the care of the Salvation Army there. A telegram was sent to the Rev. Mr. Peak who is in Los Angeles looking for him. The boy said he was put off the train at Yuma and walked most of the way to Redlands.

Mrs. W. R. Furrey spent the day with Miss Bertha Furrey yesterday.

Mrs. James Graham who is keeping Nannie Hollinger, brought her out to visit her folks yesterday.

S. O. Furrey has bought the upper twenty acres of land of the H. D. Gerdes ranch. This is one of the best pieces of land in the valley.

Owne Half a Husband. A man who has neither strength nor ambition to make a living is only half a husband. Such a man needs a tonic, and as there is no tonic like Seline Pills for any form of nerve weakness, he should take Seline Pills. Price $1 a box, 6 boxes $5, with full guarantee. Address or call Elvey & Hulett, where they sell all the principal remedies and do not substitute.

WHY WOMEN'S LABOR IS CHEAP. She Doesn't Become a Thoroughly Skilled Worker—Not Well Organized.

If we ask why women's labor should be cheap, the answer seems to be partly because her strength is generally less than a man's, but also, and much more, because she does not train sufficiently to become a skilled worker and because she does not organize strongly enough to ask for better pay.

The industrial revolution 150 years ago found women working perhaps quite as hard as or harder than they work now. But they were working—they spun, wove, etc.—usually as members of a family. The family was the industrial unit. The growth of capital and the introduction of machinery drew women out of their homes to work in association in the factory. Association gave men the opportunity of combining together and taught them that union might be strength. But for various reasons women have been much longer in learning that lesson.

It is frequently observed by those who have made a study of women's trades that the prospect of marriage makes girls slack about training and indifferent about organization. Here we come upon the central anomaly of the woman's position in industry. The normal woman looks forward to marriage, and gives or hopes to give, her best years to the family. Hence her lack of stability as an industrial worker and her weak position as a bargainer in the labor market.

"Booster circuit" vaudeville tonight. Air dome.

SEGREGATION IS OPPOSED

Colored Residents Will Test School Board's Order

INJUNCTION ASKED FOR

Hearing Next Wednesday to See Whether Colored Pupils Are to Be Separated From Whites, Mexicans, Japanese, Indians

The right of school trustees to separate colored pupils from those of other races is to be tested. An injunction suit was begun yesterday by Samuel P. Bayless, a colored man, against the board of this district asking that the board be enjoined from segregating the colored school children from those of other races and requiring them all to attend a school for colored children north of Jackson and between Fifth and Sixth streets. The application for a temporary order will be heard next Wednesday.

The order of segregation was made by the board after a second mass meeting on that subject, at previous mass meetings there having been an expression of sentiment against segregation. The plaintiff in this case is said to be acting for other colored residents as well as himself.

The plaintiff lives on Grant street between Ninth and Eleventh avenues. He has two children of school age. It is recited that there are 3204 children of school age in district No. 1; that 66 of them are colored children and that the rest are of various races, American, Mexican, Chinese, Japanese and Indian, uniformly scattered throughout the district. The colored children are also well distributed.

Accompanying the petition there is a map of the school district showing the location of the existing school houses and a description of the location of others contemplated.

One objection to the proposed segregation is that if the sixty-six colored children were segregated into one school they would be deprived of the advantages of grading, an especially advantageous feature of the school system from the fact that the teachers of the various grades are peculiarly fitted, each for the work of a particular grade.

Furthermore, the children of the segregated school would not have access to the departments of manual training and domestic science which are now open to the pupils of all races. Objection is made to the inconvenience of the proposed arrangement. The plaintiff resides within a quarter of a mile of a proposed school on Grant street whereas if he should be compelled to send his children to the proposed colored school they would have to travel a mile and half each way.

Many of the colored children, it is shown, live south of the growing network of railroad tracks. There is already one school south of the tracks which many of them attend and it is proposed to build another. If they should be compelled to cross these tracks they would be imperiled as to life and limb.

After reciting all the disadvantages to the colored pupils of the proposed segregation, the complaint asks: "That to compel all school children of the African race residing in said school district to attend school in the school building proposed to be erected on the north side of Jackson street between Fifth and Sixth streets and to refuse admission of said children to any of the other school buildings within said school district is to deny to said school children of the African race the equal protection of the law."

Messrs. Kibbey, Bennett and Bennett are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

"What is the loss?" "What is the insurance?" These are the first questions asked after every fire. If you are not well insured, better attend to it at once. Lowest rates. Dick Erdmann, 42-44 North First Street, agent.

See the "booster" vaudeville tonight. Air dome.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE 18TH SESSION

B. A. Fowler, President of the National Irrigation Congress, Returned Home Yesterday.

B. A. Fowler, president of the eighteenth national irrigation congress, returned home yesterday afternoon, from a busy but quite enjoyable business trip to Chicago and intervening points. The primary purpose of his trip was to attend a meeting in Pueblo of the officers of the national irrigation association respecting a number of things but most of all arranging for the preliminaries of the coming annual session and preparing a program for it. The preliminaries were attended to satisfactorily and a tentative program was outlined, four days being devoted to the conferences in these matters, Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, after his arrival.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
Ingredients: Sulphur, Glycerin, Quinine, Water, Perfume. Show this to your doctor.
Ayer's Hair Vigor promptly destroys the germs that cause falling hair. It nourishes the hair-balls, restores them to health. The hair stops falling out, grows more rapidly.
Ayer's Hair Vigor just as promptly destroys the germs that cause dandruff. It removes every trace of dandruff itself, and keeps the scalp clean and in a healthy condition.

Monday night a banquet was given in honor of the association officers, presided over by Attorney P. J. Dugan of Pueblo, chairman of the board of control. There were about 100 present and the banquet was a very enjoyable one. The speakers of the evening included Governor Shafroth of Colorado; R. Linsinger, a Seattle banker and chairman of the board of governors of the association; Dr. McGee of Washington, D. C., a member of the board; Major Richard W. Young of Salt Lake, also a member of the board of governors; former Governor Alva Adams of Colorado, and Mr. Fowler as president of the congress. The speeches were very interesting, said Mr. Fowler, and especially that of former Governor Adams, who is a delightful talker. The affairs of the congress seem to be moving along very nicely and there is great enthusiasm in Pueblo over the event which is designed to be the biggest thing that ever occurred in that city. The program for the congress as indicated was only tentatively decided upon, and it may be necessary to make some changes, but enough is known to say that whatever it is it will be a good one and the session will probably be the biggest and best one ever held.

From Pueblo Mr. Fowler went to Chicago, where he spent three or four days, and during which time he was in conference with J. M. Davis, a well known Y. M. C. A. worker, with whom he has been corresponding for a long time, and with whom he made final arrangements to accept the position of general secretary of the Phoenix Y. M. C. A. Mr. Davis is expected to arrive here with his family this morning.

Best vaudeville ever tonight. Air dome.

To remove a scar, make an ointment of forty grains of boric acid and one ounce of lanolin; apply this daily.

If after peeling onions, one peels a raw potato the odor of the onions will entirely disappear from the hands.

If coal dust is piled on a piece of paper and then put into the stove it will burn without deadening the fire.

For summer use no china is more altogether useful than white with green design; it looks cool on the hottest day.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

General Secretary for Phoenix Y. M. C. A.

J. M. Davis, Recently Chosen is Expected Here This Morning.

J. M. Davis, until recently general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Jacksonville, Ill., will arrive this morning, accompanied by his wife and daughter. Mr. Davis has been employed as the general secretary of the Phoenix Y. M. C. A. and is a man experienced in the work.

The local association has been negotiating with Mr. Davis for a long time but final arrangements were made with him a few days ago by President Fowler of the Phoenix association, who returned yesterday from a business trip in the east where he met Mr. Davis.

Mr. Davis has never been in Phoenix but has kept in close touch with events here. Moreover, through correspondence and personal interviews with Mr. Fowler and with others in the east who know the local situation thoroughly, Mr. Davis is convinced that he will like Phoenix and the local association feels confident it will like Mr. Davis.

HOMESTEADERS GET THEIR HEARING

The Winkelman Case Before the Land Office is as Intricate as a Chinese Puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

As the Winkelman townsite case, now having a hearing before Receiver Arnold of the land office, develops, it becomes more evident than ever that a Chinese puzzle or the working out of the old "16" puzzle invented by Sam Lloyd is pie in comparison with it. It is more complicated, complex and labyrinthian even than the famous South Gila land case which brought the legal lights of the east to Phoenix to help untangle it. And in regard to the South Gila case, it might be stated here that it is not yet untangled and that briefs on it will not be submitted till fall.

The Winkelman case is one of priority all the way through, but so many have filed on the same piece of land that it seems almost a hopeless task for Receiver Arnold to find out who got there first. The townsite homesteaders presented a part of their case yesterday. The day before was occupied with listening to the evidence offered by Farrar Towell and today Ernest Stenger for the Ray company will probably present his case. After that is over with P. A. Tharaldson will submit his defense.

In brief the case is as follows: In 1907 Tharaldson filed a scrip on land now embraced within the present townsite of Winkelman. At that time the land had not been surveyed. The official plat was filed in the local land office September 9, 1909. Then there were filed the homestead applications of Towell and Rafael Lopez and the scrip application of Stenger. Residents of the townsite filed townsite applications for certain lands in section 24 in which Winkelman is situated.

And here is where the complications arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

The Winkelman case before the Land Office is as intricate as a Chinese puzzle.

arise. The homestead applications are in conflict with Stenger's scrip filing, with the townsite filings and with Tharaldson's scrip filing—and they are also in conflict with each other. Stenger is in conflict in part with Lopez and Towell. If there is any one else who owns or thinks he owns Winkelman there is still a chance for him to present his case before the dispute is settled forever.

POLICE FINDING HORSES TIED TO CITY TREES

Owners Have Stable Bills to Pay and Are Liable to Be Fined.

From the number of horses that have recently been found tied to trees upon the streets by the police, it would seem that a surprisingly large proportion of the horse-owning population is either unaware that a city ordinance is in force prohibiting such practice or that not a few citizens are wont to snap their fingers in the eyes of the law. Less than seven rigs have been taken in by the police upon one night, people attendance the evening performance at the local theaters being the greatest offenders. One horse was found attached to a sapling upon First street last night and sent to the Eastern stables where the owner was obliged to pay a stable bill before being given possession of his property.

As must be apparent, the object of the law is to protect the trees which grow along the city streets. A cribbing horse would in a very few minutes so damage a tree as to render it likely that the tree would die in a short time. There is a penalty attached to violation of this law besides the assessment of a bill for stable keeper, and unless the practice is soon broken up, it is likely that some horse-owners will have fines to pay besides the costs.

GENERAL SECRETARY FOR PHOENIX Y. M. C. A.

J. M. Davis, Recently Chosen is Expected Here This Morning.

J. M. Davis, until recently general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Jacksonville, Ill., will arrive this morning, accompanied by his wife and daughter. Mr. Davis has been employed as the general secretary of the Phoenix Y. M. C. A. and is a man experienced in the work.

The local association has been negotiating with Mr. Davis for a long time but final arrangements were made with him a few days ago by President Fowler of the Phoenix association, who returned yesterday from a business trip in the east where he met Mr. Davis.

Mr. Davis has never been in Phoenix but has kept in close touch with events here. Moreover, through correspondence and personal interviews with Mr. Fowler and with others in the east who know the local situation thoroughly, Mr. Davis is convinced that he will like Phoenix and the local association feels confident it will like Mr. Davis.

Delicately Formed

and gently reared, women will find in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives and mothers, that the one simple, wholesome laxative remedy, which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally and which may be taken at any time, when the system needs a laxative, with perfect safety and really beneficial effects, is Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

It has that true delicacy of flavor which is so refreshing to the taste, that warming and grateful toning to the stomach which responds so favorably to its action and the laxative effect which is so beneficial to the system when, occasionally, its gentle cleansing is required.

The genuine, always bearing the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., may be purchased from all leading druggists in original packages of one size only, price fifty cents per bottle.

A New Book "WAYS OF EARNING MONEY"

Start Would you like to start in business? This book shows how to start a small manufacturing business in your home.

A Little This is not an agent proposition; you get the manufacturer's and middleman's profits. Send for this book.